About the Conference :

It is most essential that the minority communities acquire quality education at all levels for self development, for the development of family and society and to contribute positively to the progress and development of the nation.

There are three common hurdles faced by minorities in the process of acquiring quality education.

1. A large number is still away from the purview of Schools on any formal education across the country.
2. Those who are fortunate to be admitted to Schools face the gloom of sub-standard poor quality education.
3. Those few who complete their education and obtain university degrees are turned down at the doors of employers.

To address such issues and to find the ways and means to surmount the hurdles faced by minorities, MESCO- Hyderabad and All India Educational Movement, New Delhi along with the collaboration of other eminent Organizations have decided to conduct the India Education Conclave, 2019 on "QUALITY EDUCATION - CHALLENGES & PROSPECTS" from 13th June to 16th June, 2019. This Conference is expected to have distinguished scholars in academics, regulatory bodies, institutions and industry together with policy makers on the subject area and is aimed at achieving the following objectives.

- * To discuss and share educational practice and research, and ways of organizing and providing quality education to cater to the needs of minority community.
- * To discuss contentious issues on the quality education and designing future strategies to address the need of minorities in global context.
